celebrating 80 years

WITH QUALITY ARCHITECTURAL IRONMONGERY AT THE HEART OF ITS BRAND, M MARCUS IS NOW PREPARING TO CELEBRATE 80 WONDERFUL YEARS OF DESIGN AND CRAFTSMANSHIP

2020 marks the 80th anniversary of M Marcus, the Midlands based manufacturer of architectural and electrical brassware.

To commemorate its origins and history, the company will be launching several new ranges across its door hardware, cabinet hardware and electrical collections.

The 2020 Cabinet Fittings Collection, the first launch to be unveiled, considerably enlarges the brand's cabinet hardware proposal. With new manufacturing and finishing techniques the company has been able to reinvent its range of designs, textures and finishes to provide homeowners, designers and architects with extensive choice and flexibility to suit their preferences.

Narendra Karnani, Managing Director of M Marcus, explains, "With the move towards open plan living, kitchens are increasingly becoming the social hub of the home. Our new finishes and textures will enable designers to consider cabinet knobs and pulls as an integral part of the décor." Notable additions to the cabinet hardware collection include the Knurled, Reeded and Fossil Ranges available in multiple finishes. The textured surfaces of these knobs and pulls provide aesthetic impact as well as a tactile element to the touch points of the kitchens. The striking Solid Bronze range also sees an expansion with new shapes and designs in the Bronze and White Bronze finish. The signature rustic, aged texture of this range is created through the use of a sand mould in the casting process.

M Marcus's Cabinet Hardware Collection now consists of over 100 designs of knobs and pulls available in 19 unique finishes.

Originating in 1940 in the East End of London, the family run business moved its premises to Dudley in the 1980s with the founder's two sons, Narendra and Pankaj, taking over as company directors. From conception to current day, M Marcus has focused on creating innovative designs whilst upholding their core values of excellent customer service and quality products. This ethos has enabled the company to expand and establish an international presence with the birth of its partner companies; Ashley Norton and Heritage Brass LLC in the USA and UAE respectively.
